

Education Bird Level Assignments

Feb 2024

Level One

Animals in this group are usually well trained, experienced, and calm, even in busy environments. These animals are the most tolerant of a new handler. Although most of these animals are veteran ambassadors, they offer individual challenges. Working regularly with this group of wildlife and your Practice Partners provides needed experience.

Group A

Darwin	Great Horned Owl
Tucker	Great Horned Owl
Chiquita	American Kestrel
Cassidy	Swainson's Hawk (Limit 2x out daily)
Mars	Western Screech Owl

Group B (to be worked with only after completing all of Level One/Group A birds)

Ace	Peregrine Falcon
Pluto	Western Screech Owl
Iris	American Kestrel
Irwin	American Kestrel

Level Two

These animals will necessitate more experience as they have requirements that may arise in certain situations or surroundings, even though they are reliable most of the time. The patterns of behavior and special handling techniques needed for these animals vary for each individual. Education handlers must be signed off on all Level One animals before requesting to work with wildlife in this Level.

Group A

Quanah	Turkey Vulture
Euros	Peregrine Falcon
Hedwig	Great Horned Owl
Aldo	American Kestrel
Snickers	Great Horned Owl

Sundance	Swainson's Hawk
Henry	Barn Owl
Kelvin	Great Horned Owl
Addison	Swainson's Hawk
Horus	Peregrine Falcon
Bailey	Turkey Vulture (last one & can be skipped. Start schmoozing well ahead)

Level Three

Some of these birds have very specific requirements. They may have difficulties with boxing and some other specific needs. Due to each bird's particular nature, not all handlers will be authorized to work with every animal in this group. Education handlers must be signed off on each of the animals in the previous two levels before requesting to work with birds in this Level.

Off-Program

Occasionally a bird will be listed as off-program, a temporary restriction precluding the animal from going out to a program, or even just coming out on the glove. This might be caused by blood feathers, broken jesses or other medical issues. Depending on the reason for the off-program status, it may be possible to work with the bird at Liberty with prior approval.
