

Kid Stuff Nurturing Nature

Kid Stuff is all about kids and nature. This month there's news about what kids are up to on the Liberty Wildlife Campus followed by a peek at a new kids' display in the making!

Superheroes (Grades K – 3)

The Superhero Club with Rachael, Liberty Wildlife educator, were excited to learn about the importance of riparian areas in nature, and how everything works together to make riparian areas beautiful and beneficial. They visited “Junior” a black-crowned night heron, and an example of a riparian denizen. Mosaics made of clay and beans were fashioned to represent this concept.

Lots of animals live where the water meets the land. This interactive book highlights animals dependent on riparian habitats. <https://tinyurl.com/w9dmr37c>

Nature Explorers (Grades 4 – 6)

The Nature Explorer Club is meeting for a four-week Nature's Adaptations Workshop. Liberty Wildlife educator, Gail, challenged the group to discover bird adaptations in bird beaks. Masks were fashioned to reflect the differences. The group also divided into "Team Rock Pile" and "Team Brush Pile" to build reptile shelters.

Learn about several different birds, their habitats, and how their beaks are uniquely styled to help them survive. <https://tinyurl.com/4tnxj698>

StoryWalk – Coming Soon!

Plans are underway to construct a StoryWalk along the education trail at Liberty Wildlife!

What is StoryWalk?

Pages from a children's picture book are attached to stakes and lined along a path. Families move from page to page, reading as they walk. StoryWalk promotes early literacy, outdoor activity, and family time together in nature.

Stay tuned for updates!
